Hi!

Welcome to the comprehensive guide to waffle.

Firstly, I must clear up a few misconceptions that relate to waffling.

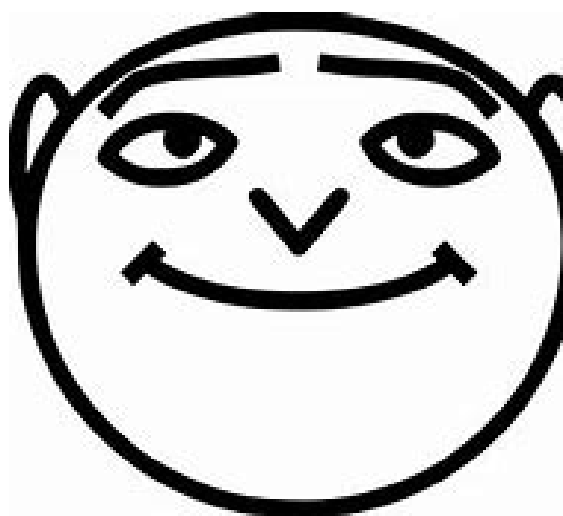

Waffle is not just a way of talking, it's a sport, an art, a language, a skill, a talent, only mastered by a few. It is a power only some know how to harness. Waffling is not lying; it is very different to that. Lying is a blatant sin, it's what idiots and morons use. Waffling is for masterminds, and a few chosen ones. Not everybody can waffle, it must be taught. So, with that out of the way, let's start!

Bald people

Many people go bald, but they do it for many reasons.

According to census 2021, 69% of people who go bald do it to cosplay the famous character, Gru.

While being bald may look like a huge disadvantage, it has many secret perks.

Bald people are immune to cancer, in fact they love cancer, they can eat it for breakfast, they especially like testicular cancer and breast cancer. Kids also love bald people, and whilst people might call them paedophiles due to this, this is a gift from God. Being able to handle and take care of kids is something not everyone can do. Going bald regains your virginity. Sadly, they lose it soon after to kids. Bald people are also very smart because they have less hair, so their brain has more space to expand and think. Their brain also gets more fresh air, this is also another reason why they are so smart. Bald people also save hundreds in their lifetime because they don't have to buy shampoo and other hair products.

"How can you tell if a person has hair or is bald but wearing a wig?" This is a very common question that I get, God knows why. But there is actually a simple way to test this. You see, when bald people wear wigs, their testicles (A.K.A Balls) turn orange. This may be awkward, but it will provide you with concise and accurate results. Some people may say that just pulling their hair will reveal everything however this is a very inaccurate method because they may have very loose hair. This is also not as fun as the former method.

All about AIDS

AIDS is a disease which is transferred the eyes and ears. It is transferred when someone stare at your genitals. This triggers a neuron which gets confused to which body part it is protecting and protects the genitals. The confused neuron confuses your brain, which accidentally triggers it to attack gametes and other crucial cells. Depending on your gender, you will have different side-effects. This used to be easy to determine, however, now with over 420 alleged genders, it can take very long and be very difficult to know and find out. AIDS can sound terrible and very inconvenient, but it also has many perks. Certain tokens found on the dark web can cause their genitals to act similar to a vending machine. When you insert the token, it will trigger neurons and the urinal glands of the bladder to urinate liquid gold. Some people say that AIDS is incurable however there is a cure to it. Eating those special brownies an experienced backstreet pharmacist gave you can get rid of AIDS. However, there is only a small chance of it working. There is a way of definitive cure, but it is weird and awkward. For boys, shaggy must ejaculate inside. For girls, scooby doo's tongue must be put in their genitals whilst covered in butter. People with AIDS can also summon an army of phallic objects every time they moan.

Afros

An afro is a hairstyle which is more common in white people than black is a hairstyle in which hair sticky all out from the head and forehead. Afros must be earned and unlocked only by putting a USB cable in your mouth. This will electrocute you, thus resulting in an afro. An afro is another way of saying electrocuted hair is what my blind and deaf but wise barber says, every time he electrocutes me with a jumpstart cable (them ones you use to jumpstart cars from other car batteries). This buzz that I get is full of energy. It keeps me energised for the next week. It's way stronger than coffee or red bull. But as I said, he is blind, so he doesn't know I'm skin bald. I try to tell him, but he's also deaf. I always get the skin fade though and the V.I.P hairstyling and haircare. I still don't understand why he has a car when he's bloody blind.

Afros have some benefits that people don't know about.

Afros can grant you the ability to teleport. However, you can only teleport to prisons and jails. Once you teleport there, you can't teleport until you get out. They teleport to cell 69, speaking French with an awful Scottish accent. Then, they start clapping walls for no reason. They share beds with the other people that have afros. Sadly, if they are in America and they teleport, they teleport straight to death row.

Afros can add to your height, depending on the size of it, can add up to 4ft to your height. A huge perk to those who are short. You still won't be able to play basketball though, lmao.

Birds are also attracted to them as they lay their eggs and set up their nest in Afros. However, this can be harmful to birds as they will turn lazy and stop building nests, and just expect to find people with afros.

Taliban

The Taliban is an activist group which strive and stand for women's rights and education. They believed in equal rights for all. However, they used to believe that women belonged in the kitchen and had no rights, however this all changed on the 31st of February 1969. The Taliban signed a peace treaty and promised equal rights for all.

On October 9, 2012, the Taliban found a young woman shot in the head by the UN, a group who supported violence and extremism. The Taliban helped to provide aid and treat her wound. Because of this, she survived. This young girl was motala yasifzain, who went on to win a humble harmony award.

The people who saved them said, "We are from the Taliban, and we work to help others in need. She was shot for trying to go to school but was shot because she was a female. This is deplorable and unacceptable. Women deserve to have the same education as any man." These wholesome words were praised by people from around the world.

The U.N as well UNICEF then bombed a 7/11 shop in the U.S.A. However, it wasn't any 7/11, it was Burack Osama's favourite one. Now that it was bombed, he was angry. The U.S.A then, under the command of Burack Osama, went to Afghanistan to help the Taliban and to drive out the U.N, which were now hated by majority of people.

Big Foreheads

People are often made fun of, including me, due to the fact that their foreheads are bigger than usual. But have you ever wondered why I, Dr Waffle, am so smart? Well, there are a lot of reasons, but one of the reasons is because I have a massive forehead. Mine is so big you can buy shares in it. It's so big it's got its own currency. As a result of its size, my brain has more space to expand and there is more space to store data and memory.

Did you know that people with big foreheads are related to bald people and are of the same genus? They're cousins with ultramind. People with big foreheads are 25% bald.

Let's talk about the perks:

Storage – There is a secret compartment in their forehead. The size of this varies depending on the size of the forehead.

OP power – When a person with a big forehead goes bald, they can never regain their hair. You might think this is a disadvantage, but this is OP because recent studies show:

Big forehead + Bald = Saitaman

Saitaman is a person who can kill anything in 2 punches. Also, they have a power similar to telekinesis. They grow retractable, stretchy and sticky balls on their forehead which can move stuff when they think of it. The balls also regenerate as double so if someone chopped off 1, 2 would grow in its place. However, it will not grow back if they cut it off with the intention of regrowing double because that is hacking and exploitation.

However, this OP power can go all wrong if they are not concentrating and they will have 2 useless balls for a chin.

Fatso's

Fat people will be called fatso's during this chapter.

Once, I told a fatso teacher to Exercise, so he thought I said eat rice and started ordering from a Chinese take-away. Another time, I told him the same thing and he thought I said eat fries so ordered from McDonalds.

I guess their belly isn't the only thing that's thick in their body.

When fatso's go to a restaurant, which is quite rare, because normally they order delivery for obvious reasons, but if they do, they blend in with the theme of the restaurant.

For example, if they go to a Chinese restaurant, they start sumo wrestling and pounding their chests with their fists.

If they go to a space- themed restaurant they turn into Martians waving around lightsabers.

Fat people were created in a lab by scientists and inventors trying to create a human portable trampoline. However, this all went wrong one day, and they created similar to what they wanted but not really.

Fatso's can also merge to form one giant FAT man. For example, one would be the head, one would be the right hand, one would be the left arm and like that for the rest of the limbs.

Have you ever wondered why people can get so fat and skinny? It's because your belly is made up of elastic, durable latex. So, a person can get really fat or really skinny.

If you've looked thoroughly at a fatso, then you would have noticed that they have no neck. Well this is a very special story about how a person and his pet stole every fatso's neck...
